What's New In?

Stay motivated with Alto. Alto is a very interesting Google Chrome extension that's designed to help you keep track of your most important goals. If you're like most people, you want to spend your time wisely, so you may find yourself questioning where you are on your path towards a certain goal, or thinking about how much time you have left before your goal is reached. Alto is not just for people with a big goal that they want to achieve, it's also for your daily to-do list, so it helps you stay motivated and organized. Alto is an extremely interesting extension that I am not sure I would have thought to add to my daily routine if not for someone telling me to do it, but I had to admit that it made me more productive. All in all, Alto is a useful, little extension that aims to make you more focused and more productive by always reminding you how much time you still have left. This, of course, might not be very desirable for everybody, but knowing how much time has passed from a day, a week, a month, a year, or even a lifetime, can be a big motivational factor for many. Promo code is "PROMO" and will expire in 45 days. Does not apply to previous purchases. $5 discount for new customers. Works with any app in the Apple store. Become a part of Alto community Take a look at Alto The best way to use Alto is to create a new account. Do not use an existing account, because it does not contain all the same data. Accounts are synchronized on a regular basis. I update once a week, so it should be safe to use the same account for at least a month. Here's how to use Alto. ALTO SYNC Alto will sync all your calendars, tasks and notes. If you use Google Calendar or Trello, Alto will work with them. If you use iCloud, you can enable syncing with iCloud.com, or your computer's iCloud account. Here is how to configure that: 1. Create an account at iCloud.com. 2. Enable "access Google Calendar" and "access Trello" on your calendar and Trello account, and then access your calendars and Trello from inside your browser. 3. Open the app and sign in to your iCloud account. 4. Wait for
