The present invention relates to a method and apparatus for the production of molded foam articles and, more particularly, to a method and apparatus for producing a variety of foam articles, including polyurethane, polyurea, polyether, and polyester shaped articles by the introduction of a thermal decomposition preformed blowing agent into a molten matrix and thereafter causing the preformed blowing agent to decompose to form a cellular matrix during the article molding procedure. In the formation of foam articles, there has been a recent emphasis on articles which have a high strength to weight ratio or which have a high cost to weight ratio. In the case of the polyurethane process, a great deal of effort has been expended to develop ways in which the foam density can be controlled so as to achieve the desired strength to weight ratio or the desired cost to weight ratio. It is known that with the polyurethane process, foam densities can be varied by manipulating the viscosity of the urethane, which is often done by the selection of a preformed blowing agent from an assortment of isocyanates. It has been recognized that this allows the selection of foam articles having a wide variety of strengths to densities ratios. Further, it has been recognized that foams formed by preformed gas with a high gas content such as alkenes splitting multiple rows into multiple columns sql I am trying to separate multiple rows into multiple columns and wondering how to do so, i have a table like this:

```
OrderID | Product | Quantity
| Name | Type 1 | 1 | 2 | x | A
2 | 1 | 2 | y | A 3 | 2 | 2 | z | B
4 | 1 | 2 | 1 | A

and I would like the output to be like

this: OrderID | Product |
Quantity | A | B 1 | 1 | 2 | x |
y 2 | 1 | 2 | y | z 3 | 2 | 2 | z |

1 how would I achieve this?

A: You can get this by conditional aggregation:
select o.orderid, max(case when t.type = 'A' then p.product end) as productA, max(case when t.type = 'B' then p.product end) as productB from orders o join products p on p.orderid = o.orderid group by o.orderid;
In SQL Server 2012+, you can use cross apply: select o.orderid,
